| About Dr. Rupert

Dr. Raymond Rupert is an expert in advanced case management for clients with complex healthcare problems. He is the founder and medical director of Rupert Case Management Inc. (RCM) and Quest Health Consultancy (QHC). Since the early 1990's, RCM has focused on case management, care co-ordination and patient advocacy. The clients at RCM have many healthcare problem(s), including: medical, surgical, mental health or addiction problems. RCM advises clients located anywhere using high impact teams and state of the art information technology solutions.

QHC is a division of RCM that focusses on the healthcare needs of multigenerational families with comprehensive expertise in problem-solving and proactive preventative strategies for the best possible health and wellbeing. Families benefit from highly expert medical case management, advocacy and expedited access to the greatest minds in the medical world. QHC's wide-ranging support has made QHC the consultancy of choice for dynamic multigenerational families, wealth managers and family offices. The advanced methodology for assessing and resolving complex needs for those at every age and stage of life is highly effective, while discreet and compassionate.

RCM/QHC manages a Preferred Provider Network including the proprietary TOPDOCS Canada TM network of over 3,200 experts in over 150 subspecialties. RCM/QHC also has a Preferred Vendor Network (PVN) of 2,800 specialty vendors (for MRI, CT, PET) and a national network of associates providing face-to-face or virtual healthcare services.

RCM provides complex case management and consulting services to a number of individual and corporate clients.

Dr. Rupert is a graduate of the University Toronto medical school (MD) and the Rotman School of Business (MBA).

Dr. Rupert had previously worked in private equity and healthcare investment banking for Sharwood & Company and Gundy Associates. Dr. Rupert is the editor of two books: The Investment Banking Handbook for Canada and The New Era of Investment Banking in the USA.
